P7 PROJECT
AT CALDERWOOD LODGE
PRIMARY SCHOOL
GLASGOW, UK
2012

My name is Marina Gladkikh.

Last year I finished Calderwood Lodge Primary School in Glasgow.

One of the most remarkable projects in P7 was the creation of our own books for P1 pupils who had only started reading. We tried our best to make the books colourful and entertaining.

The second most wonderful event was a traditional trip of P7 pupils to Amsterdam where we visited Anne Frank Museum and learnt more about Holocaust during WWII.

Every year P7 pupils at Calderwood Lodge try to raise some extra money for the trip to help children whose families cannot afford it so that all the class could go to Amsterdam.

My parents helped me to arrange everything to make my book available for children all over the world.

This book is free for reading, downloading and publishing.

If you like it and wish to help raise money for Calderwood Lodge pupils' traditional trip to Amsterdam you may make a payment via PayPal to

I hope other children from Calderwood Lodge Primary ( and not only) will join this project to create a library for small readers.

Enjoy reading!

In the jungle . . .

In the cave . . .

A baby tiger called Teddy was born!

But there was one thing missing

TEDDY IS A PI

S T R I P E S ! ! !

He was bullied
in the playground,
in his Jungle School,

outside and
everywhere he went.

Teddy was really,
really sad!

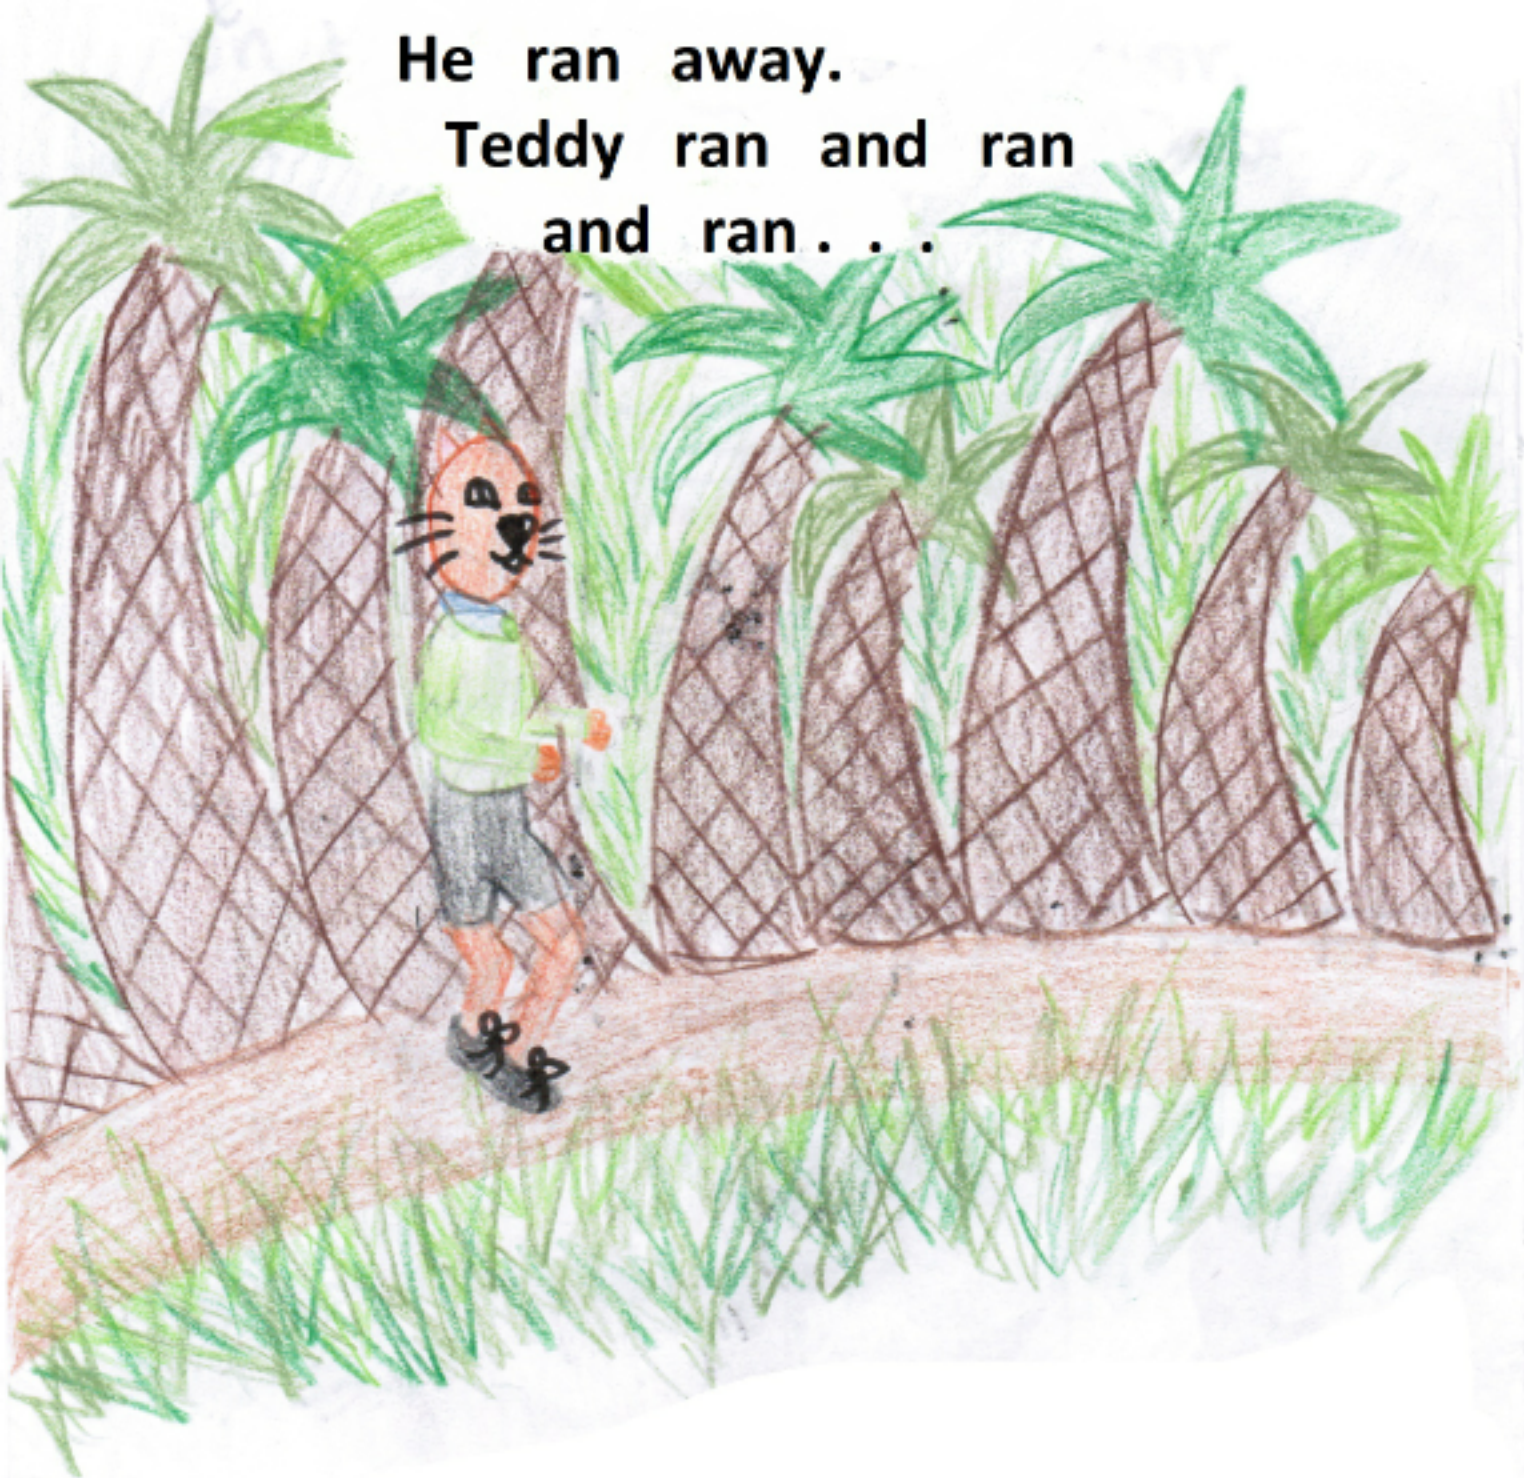

"Whaa!!" he cried.
"Why do I have no stripes?!"

He ran away.

Teddy ran and ran and ran . . .

Untill . . .

He ran into . . .

An angry Jungle Ranger.

The Ranger bellowed "WHO ARE YOU?"

"A tiger" stammered Teddy.

"YOU LOOK LIKE A LION WITH NO MANE !!!"

"GET OUT OF THE JUNGLE,

YOU'RE EMBARRASSING THE JUNGLE!"

shouted the Jungle Ranger.

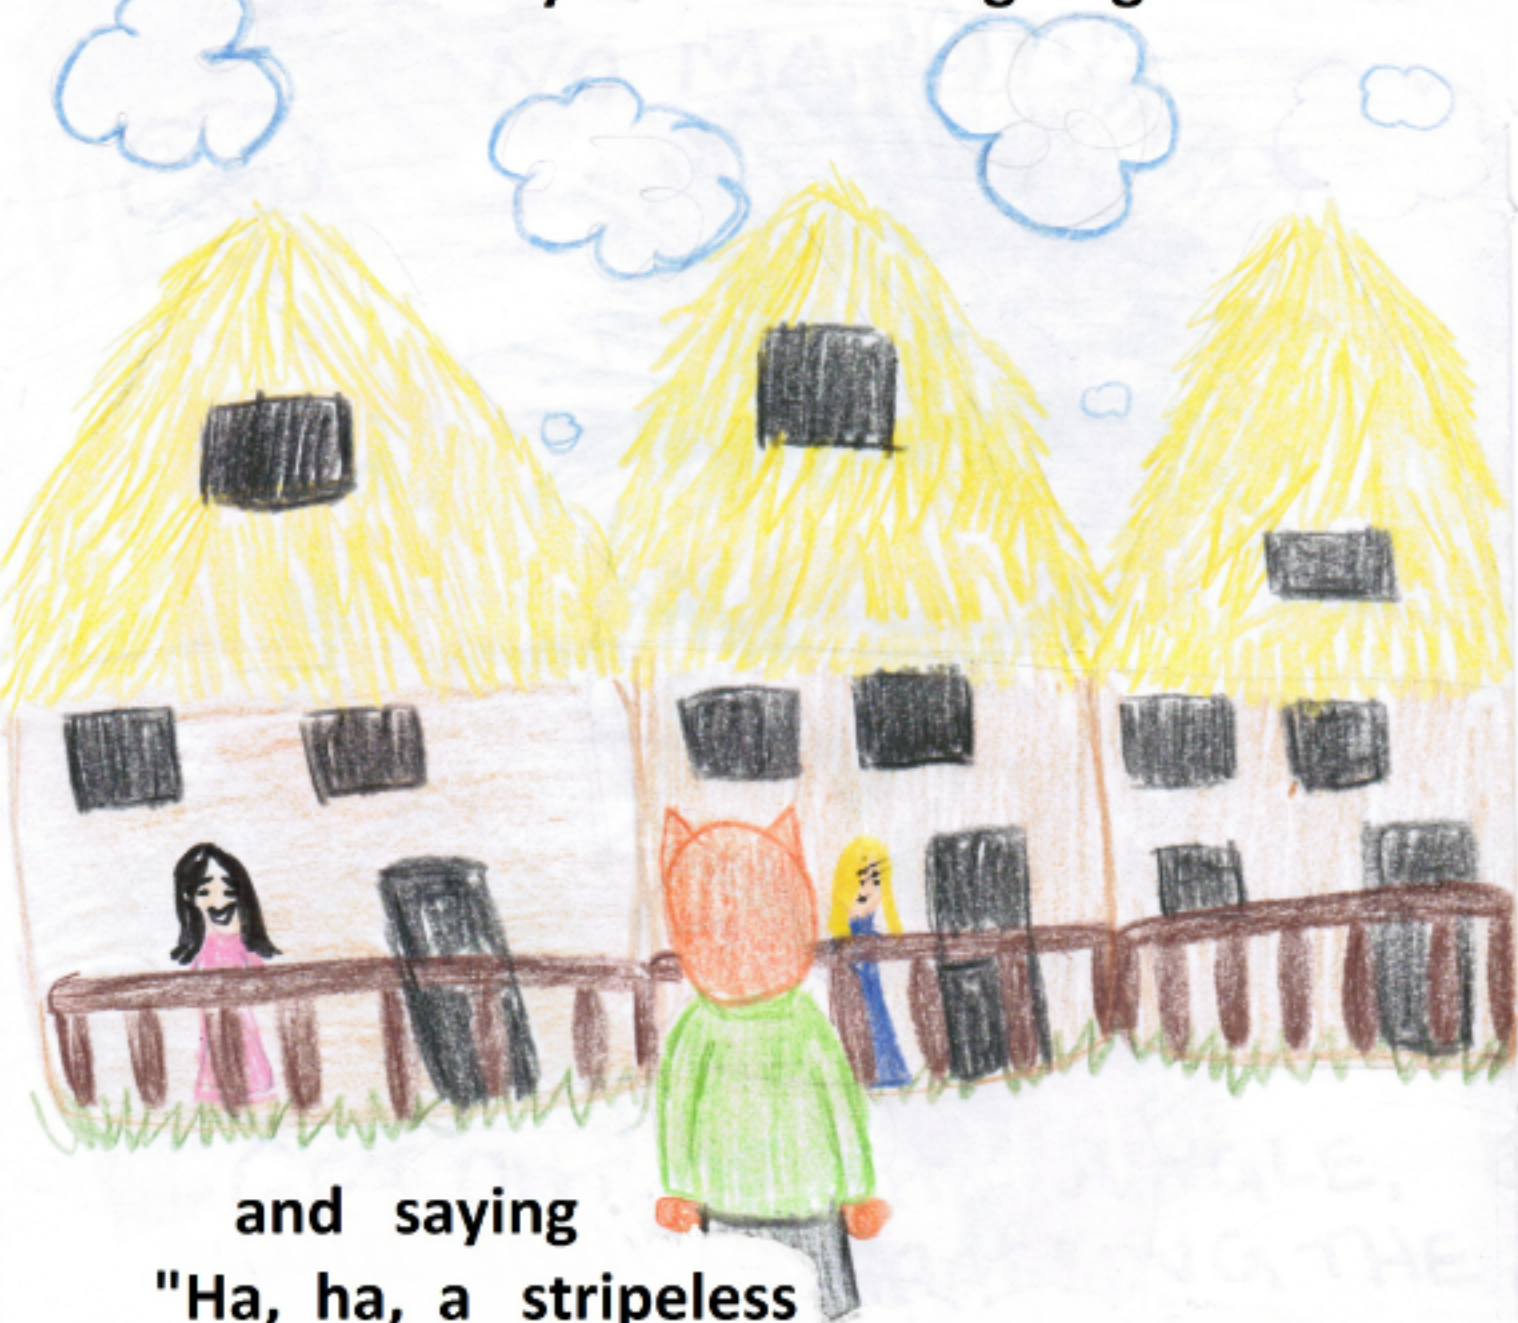

So Teddy ran untill
he was out and away
from the jungle.

A few days later Teddy was walking pass houses
and everyone was laughing

and saying
"Ha, ha, a stripeless tiger."

He couldn't see where he was going and accidentally tipped over a can of black paint.

Splash!

Splosh!

Splat!

Gurgle!

Black paint everywhere !
On the tiger, on the door,
on the window, on the floor.

Teddy ran to the lake
to wash himself.

When he arrived he saw in the reflection that he now had black shiny stripes.

He rushed back into the jungle to his cave and . . .

showed his parents
his new Black Shiny Stripes.

Teddy was really happy that he now was like other tigers.
